

THE PROEM

We have stepped into yet another academic year with new hopes and aspirations along with the introduction of CBCS system. The success of the new system needs rapid changes in educational set up. Students, Faculties, Non-teaching staff and Management of the College are at this moment in a process of adopting such changes. And this change has already been reflected in the endeavor of the institution while pursuing for NAAC accreditation on the last 1st and 2nd July this year. Although our institution has been graded as C by NAAC in the 1st cycle accreditation, but we feel that this will certainly encourage us to undertake new methods and innovative activities for the benefit of our students and to perform even better in the years to come.

It is indeed a cheering news for everyone that our institution has received the approval of IGNOU and classes will commence from the very next session. Meanwhile our college has also started preparing towards NIRF ranking.

The story of a student here does not begin and end with their entry and exit, it continues in a most significant way. They stand ever related to the College, no matter whether their participation might have been more or less. Without teamwork no institution can prosper. Surya Sen Mahavidyalaya is the name of unity in diversity where all of us work together for betterment of this institution.

A Few Words From The Editorial Team

NAAC Peer Team visit in our college was the talk of the academia in the last few months. We're proud today to pronounce that our college is a NAAC accredited institution now. During the last so many years this College has seen growth in the number of students, teachers, as well as infrastructural development in teaching and learning. But the post- accreditation phase now seems to be more significant for channelizing our efforts, taking measures towards academic excellence and to follow the guidelines of the NAAC Peer Team. This is a challenge for all members of this Surya Sen Mahavidyalaya Family to make its further success depend upon the sense of belongingness and participation we can inculcate in all the constituents of the institution. Not only it will be yet another hierarchical structure of record keeping exercise in the institution, rather it will be a facilitative and participative voluntary system of this institution. A very warm wishes to all for the forthcoming season of festivities from the members of this team.
